BARACK OBAMA

Dear Michael:

Thanks for your kind message. Michelle and I have been touched by the words of support we've received from Americans across our country, and I appreciate the time you've taken to write.

I'm proud of the progress we've made together. Thanks to the participation and resolve of everyday Americans like you, our country is a better and stronger place today than it was before I took office. None of our accomplishments were inevitable—they were the result of people from every background and station in life stepping forward and embracing the important responsibilities of citizenship. As long as we continue working in common effort and presuming the inherent goodness in one another, I'm confident our brightest days will always lie ahead.

Again, thank you for writing. It was the honor of my life to serve as your President, and while there are many milestone moments we will always remember, it was my conversations with people like you that kept me going every single day. They've stayed with me, and they always will. Thanks for everything—I wish you the very best.

Sincerely,
Barack Obama
